
Rows are participant groups; columns are experienced block positions. Each condition appears once per row and once per displayed block position.