
Rows are participant groups and columns are experienced block positions. Each condition appears once per row and once per displayed block position.